1. Shared Parental Leave explained

1.1. What is Shared Parental Leave?

- Shared Parental Leave is a legal entitlement allowing mothers and adoptee parents to share their Maternity Leave or Adoption Leave with the other parent.
- Shared Parental Leave can only be used during the first year following birth or Adoption.
- Any Shared Parental Leave not taken by the first birthday or first anniversary of placement for Adoption is lost.
- Shared Parental Leave works by the eligible mother or adopter ending their Maternity or Adoption Leave early (i.e. before they've used the full 52 week entitlement) and converting this into Shared Parental Leave.
- This is referred to as 'curtailing' Maternity or Adoption Leave. Providing notice to curtail Maternity or Adoption Leave is binding and can only be reversed in very limited circumstances.
- The untaken weeks of Maternity or Adoption Leave are then called Shared Parental Leave and this leave can then be shared between both parents, up to a maximum of 50 weeks.
- The mother must take the first two weeks of Maternity Leave as the first 2 weeks of Maternity Leave is compulsory for the new mother under legislation.
- The other parent can share Maternity or Adoption Leave in the form of Shared Parental Leave, whether they work for NatWest or not.

1.2. Shared Parental Leave or Partner Leave

- Partner Leave is also available to employees of NatWest, which allows the parent not taking Maternity or Adoption Leave to take up to 52 weeks of leave, with a portion of this time fully paid (subject to eligibility).
- Unlike Shared Parental Leave, this does not require parents to share any part of Maternity or Adoption Leave.

You'll find further information in our Partner Leave Policy (Human Resources > Absence > Partner Leave).

1.3. Who is eligible for Shared Parental Leave?

Shared Parental Leave can be taken by:

- The parent taking Maternity/Adoption Leave, and
- Their spouse, civil partner, or partner, or
- The father of the child.

Both parents must share the main responsibility for the care of the child at the time of the birth/placement for Adoption.

If your circumstances change whilst you're on Shared Parental Leave, and you no longer consider yourself to be sharing the main responsibility for the care of the child, you must inform your line manager as soon as possible as this may impact your eligibility for leave under this policy.

In addition, to be eligible to take Shared Parental Leave you must meet all the criteria below:

- The mother/adopter of the child must be (or must have been) entitled to Maternity/Adoption Leave or must be (or must have been) entitled to Statutory Maternity/Adoption pay or Maternity allowance for the child,
- They must also have ended or given notice to end their Maternity/Adoption Leave,
- The employee taking Shared Parental Leave must have a minimum of 26 weeks service with the Group at the end of the 15th week before the child's expected due date/the week in which the employee/employee's partner is notified of having been matched with a child for Adoption,
- The employee must be working for the Group the week before the start of the period of Shared Parental Leave,
- The employee taking Shared Parental Leave must meet the 'employment and earnings test'. This means that in the 66 weeks leading up to the child's expected due date/matching date they have worked for at least 26 weeks and earned an average of £30 a week in any of 13 of those weeks.

 We expect our employees to give honest and accurate information regarding Shared Parental Leave and entitlement to payments relating to shared parental leave.

If an employee fraudulently or negligently gives incorrect information, makes a false declaration and/or provides false documents, this may be considered Gross Misconduct. Gross Misconduct may justify dismissal without notice and without previous warnings.

1.4. Length of leave and how it can be taken

- You're able to take up to 50 weeks Shared Parental Leave during the child's first year in the family.
- Shared Parental Leave must be taken in a continuous block of unbroken leave. Requests for discontinuous leave where you take a period of Shared Parental Leave, return to work for a few weeks and then take a further period of Shared Parental Leave won't be accepted.
- Parents can use it to take time off at the same time or can take separate periods of leave, as long as the total number of weeks taken altogether by both parents does not go over 52 weeks in total. For example, when both parents take a week of Shared Parental Leave off together, this counts as two weeks of leave in total.

1.5. When can Shared Parental Leave start?

- For the mother, Shared Parental Leave can be taken after the two weeks of compulsory Maternity Leave which needs to be taken immediately following the birth.
- For the parent taking Adoption Leave, Shared Parental Leave can be taken after at least two weeks of Adoption Leave.
- The father/partner/civil partner/spouse can take Shared Parental Leave immediately after the birth/placement of the child if the parent taking Maternity/Adoption Leave has given binding notice to end this (the mother or parent taking Adoption leave may still be on compulsory Maternity/Adoption leave).
- Shared Parental Leave can start on any day of the week and can only be taken in complete weeks.
- The father/partner/civil partner/spouse may want to take their 2 week Paternity Leave first as it can't be taken after Shared Parental Leave.

 You'll find further information in our Paternity Leave Policy (Human Resources > Absence > Paternity Leave).

1.6. Notice of intention to take Shared Parental Leave

1.6.1. Giving notice

- Notice must be given at least 8 weeks before the start of your requested Shared Parental Leave.
- You'll need to notify the Group you meet the eligibility criteria for Shared Parental Leave through completing the Shared Parental Leave Declaration Form.
- The other parent (whether they work for the Group or not) also signs the declaration.

Action for employees

Complete the Shared Parental Leave Request Form (Human Resources>Absence> Shared Parental Leave>Tools to help).

- You'll also need to submit your leave request on Workday.
- An employee can submit three notices to request a period of Shared Parental Leave. Any change to a period of Shared Parental Leave already booked counts as one of the three notices.

1.6.2. If you change your mind about when Shared Parental Leave starts

- If you change your mind about when you want your Shared Parental Leave to start you can do this by giving 8 weeks' notice of the change.
- A change of date or cancellation of Shared Parental Leave counts as one of your three notices to request Shared Parental Leave (unless it's a change because the baby is born early).

Action for line managers

Where there's a change of start date, you'll need to update the employee record in Workday to ensure there are no impacts, for example to pay and benefits.

2. Pay during Shared Parental Leave

2.1. Pay definitions

In this section, we'll refer to different pay related terminology and criteria. To support your understanding, here's a list of these key definitions:

- Qualifying Week (QW): 15 weeks before your Expected Week of Childbirth (EWC).
- Set Period: These are the 2 pay months before the qualifying week. We use this period to calculate your average weekly earnings.
- Average weekly earnings: This is all earnings paid through payroll in the set period which are subject to National Insurance (NI) contributions.
- Statutory Shared Parental Pay (ShPP): Weekly Shared Parental Leave payment set down by the Government which is reviewed on an annual basis. This is subject to length of service and earnings criteria set by HMRC.
- Occupational Shared Parental Pay (OShPP): Shared Parental Leave pay enhanced by the Group for all eligible employees. Any enhanced Group payments are always inclusive of ShPP.
- Full Value Account: Your Value Account is made up of three elements, (1) salary, (2) pension funding and (3) benefit funding (for employees at Grade C and above).

The above treatment applies if your partner works for the Group or outside of the Group.

2.3. Pay related Q&A

2.3.1. How are payments for Shared Parental Leave paid?

- ShPP and OShPP are calculated on a weekly basis, paid on the normal salary date and can start on any day of the week (including a Saturday or a Sunday).
- ShPP and OShPP are paid on the number of calendar days in the month. This means payments can differ on a month to month basis depending on the number of calendar days in the month. For example, February's pay may be less than the pay you received in January because it's a shorter month.
- It isn't possible for the Group to pay your ShPP or OShPP in any other format other than what is outlined in the tables above. For example, we can't spread 24 weeks' pay over 12 months.

2.3.2. What happens if I get a pay rise before I go on Shared Parental Leave?

Any pay rise will be reflected in Shared Parental Leave pay.

2.3.3. What happens if I get a pay rise during my Shared Parental Leave?

- Any pay rise will be reflected in your Shared Parental Leave pay and triggers a re-calculation of OShPP.
- If you're eligible for OShPP this will be based on your most up to date salary during your Shared Parental Leave period.

2.3.4. How do I access payslips whilst on shared parental leave?

- Paper payslips will be sent to your home address whilst on you're on Maternity Leave.
- Payslips also remain available on Workday. You may want to download the Workday App on to your personal device so you can access your payslips digitally whilst you're off.
- If you receive an additional payslip at the end of the month, this is usually because you've had a pay correction processed.

2.3.5. What happens if I leave the Group?

- If you leave the Group at any point during your Shared Parental Leave, you'll not be expected to pay any Shared Parental Leave pay back.
- If you're only eligible for ShPP, payment of the outstanding amount at your leaving date will be paid in your final salary as a lump sum.
- If you're eligible for OShPP, and you resign, the balance of any ShPP only will be paid in your final salary as a lump sum.
- If you're made redundant whilst on Shared Parental Leave, refer to the Restructures and Shared Parental section.

2.3.6 Will an employee be eligible for OShPP if they fall pregnant again/adopt again whilst on Shared Parental Leave?

- Eligibility criteria is the same for every pregnancy/adoption and will depend on length of service, earnings and additional eligibility criteria as outlined in this policy.
- We won't be able to confirm eligibility to Shared Parental Leave until the leave is keyed on to Workday.

2.4. Discretionary performance bonus

- If you're eligible for a discretionary performance bonus (subject to the qualifying criteria) you'll receive a pro-rated bonus to reflect the period you've worked during the relevant performance year.
- Where eligible, the bonus will be paid regardless of whether you're receiving Shared Parental Leave payments at that time.
- Any bonus will be paid on the defined payment date according to the bonus payment schedule.

 You'll find further information on discretionary performance bonuses including the guide to deferral on our Human Resources pages accessed through Human Resources > Pay > Bonus and awards > Deferred awards.

2.5. Sharing in success

- If you're eligible for a Sharing in Success award (i.e. have demonstrated satisfactory performance during the year and are employed by the Group on the last working day of the year), if you've not resigned before the date of the grant, you'll be told of any award due as soon as it's known.
- If you resign and leave the Group before the date of grant, you won't receive an award.
- The award will be paid on the defined payment date regardless of whether you're receiving Shared Parental Leave payments at that time.
- Prior to your period of leave you should update your contact details with EquatePlus to receive emails to your personal email address. You can access EquatePlus at any time from your personal device.

4. Further information for before, during & at the end of Shared Parental Leave

4.1. Before Shared Parental Leave

4.1.1. Performance management

A performance check in should be completed before you start Shared Parental Leave. It's a good idea to capture the key points from the check in conversation in Workday via the check in conversation template. You can find out more information about meaningful check-ins on the Beyond Hub.

4.1.2. Nominating a buddy

- You should nominate a buddy to help you keep up to date with any significant news happening in your business whilst you're on leave.
- A buddy is another colleague who will act as a point of contact and someone you're comfortable with contacting you outside of work.
- A buddy isn't there to replace your line manager, and you'll still need to ensure you stay connected to your line manager throughout your leave. You'll find further information on keeping in contact with your line manager during leave here.

 Further information on the role of a buddy can be found in the Buddy Support Pack (Human Resources > Absence > Shared Parental Leave > Things to know). The support pack includes a form you'll need to complete together with your buddy confirming your contact details and agree a method of/frequency of contact during your leave.

4.1.3 Systems access

- You'll need to agree with your line manager the level of systems access (if any) that you want to retain while you're on Maternity Leave.
- For example, basic access to work systems would include access to the Intranet, Engage, Ask Archie, NatWest Group Benefits, Oracle, Fieldglass and Planview.
- Your line manager can arrange your agreed systems access using the usual ServiceLine Express process under 'Manage my Teams Access'.
- You can also download the Workday and Ask Archie App onto either your corporate or personal device.

Information for line managers

Arrange any access that is to be retained during the employee's maternity leave by using 'Manage my Teams Access' on ServiceLine Express.

4.2. During Shared Parental Leave

4.2.1. Keeping in contact

- It's important to remember that you're still part of the team whilst you're on leave and maintaining regular contact with your line manager during this time will support this.
- You'll need to agree the level of contact you'd like to have with your line manager, and how you'd like them to keep in contact (e.g., calls, emails, or texts).
- Your line manager will keep you informed of any business changes that take place during your leave, including if your team/business goes through a restructure. You'll find further information on this process here.
- If there are changes while you're on leave, you'll be sent all the relevant communications.

Information for employees

You must ensure all your contact details are up to date in Workday so that you're easily contactable as agreed with your line manager.

4.2.2. Shared Parental Leave in Touch (SPLIT) Days

What are SPLIT days?

- SPLIT days can be used for any activity which would ordinarily be classed as work during Shared Parental Leave. For example, attending a conference, attending training or attending a call about team structure changes, including redundancy conversations.
- Both virtual and in person attendance count as a SPLIT day.
- There are up to 20 SPLIT days available to each parent taking Shared Parental Leave and these are in addition to any Keeping in Touch days (KIT days) taken during Maternity or Adoption Leave.
- SPLIT days are different from the keeping in contact conversations you'll have with your line manager and colleagues during your leave given work will not be undertaken during these conversations. For example, meeting your manager or team for coffee or lunch together would not be considered a SPLIT day.
- SPLIT days can only be used whilst on Shared Parental Leave. They can't be used during any holidays immediately before or immediately after Shared Parental Leave.
- SPLIT days are optional, and you don't need to do any during your leave. If you don't want to take up the opportunity to work a SPLIT day/s, you do so without any detriment.
- You and your line manager should agree when the SPLIT day/s happen and what work is to be done on these days.
- The treatment of SPLIT days varies depending on where you're based.
- When planning a SPLIT day, you won't be able to log into any systems (other than those already available to you during your Shared Parental Leave).
- Any work done on an agreed SPLIT day will count as a whole SPLIT day. In other words, if you come in for a one-hour training session and do no other work that day, it will count as a whole SPLIT day.
- SPLIT days are the only work you're able to undertake during Shared Parental Leave. You can't take up another job during your Shared Parental Leave.

Payment for SPLIT days

- The pay that you receive for a SPLIT day depends on whether you're receiving OShPP or ShPP and the table below outlines payment details:

If you're receiving...	You'll be paid...
OShPP	No additional payment will be made for the SPLIT Day
ShPP	Normal hourly rate
No pay	Normal hourly rate

- Payment for any agreed SPLIT days will be paid on the 18th of the month and will be subject to normal payroll cut off dates. This means you may not be paid for a SPLIT Day in the month that it was worked.
- You will be paid for 7 hours even if less hours are worked during the SPLIT Day.
- Your line manager will process the SPLIT day payment through Workday.

Information for line managers

You'll need to make a request for payment for a SPLIT day if the employee is on the statutory pay equivalent period or no pay period of leave. This can be done using the 'Enter Time for Worker' function on Workday.

4.2.3. Group communications during Shared Parental Leave

During your Shared Parental Leave you can expect to receive some standard items of communication as outlined below:

Communication	When	How
Payslips	Monthly	Sent to your home address or can be accessed via the Workday App
Pay review comms	End February/early March	Sent to you by your line manager or can be accessed on the Workday App after the conversation with your line manager has taken place
Our View survey	September	Invited to access online by your line manager
ShareSave – invitation to join the Group's scheme	When a ShareSave option is announced	Accessed through your profile on ShareSave

4.3. After Shared Parental Leave

4.3.1. Notice to return to work

You must provide at least 8 weeks' notice of your intention to return to work.

Information for line managers

If an employee wants to return to work earlier than the original date on Workday, you'll need to update Workday to reflect the new return date. You can find help on how to do this at Human Resources > Workday Help > Absence > How to return a colleague from extended leave.

4.3.2. Returning to work – general principles

- Under GB legislation, where less than 26 weeks of leave has been taken (including Maternity, Paternity, Adoption or Parental Leave), you're entitled to return to the same job on the same terms and unless a redundancy situation has arisen.
- If you've taken more than 26 weeks of leave (including Maternity, Paternity, Adoption or Parental Leave) or the last of two or more consecutive periods of leave includes Parental Leave of more than four weeks, additional Maternity Leave or additional Adoption Leave, you're entitled to return to the same job unless it's not reasonably practicable, or a redundancy situation has arisen.

 Refer to the Redundancy Policy and Support Pack for information on redundancy situations (Human Resources > Working here > Leaving the bank > Redundancy).

4.3.3. Phase back

- The option to phase back after Shared Parental Leave can help the transition back to work, especially where you've taken a prolonged period of leave.
- You're able to take up to 12 weeks phase back and the phase back period should be proportionate to the amount of Shared Parental Leave taken. For example, if you only take two months of Shared Parental Leave, we wouldn't expect you to need 12 weeks to phase back.
- Where the employee and their partner both work for the Group and share leave, the total phase back between them both should not exceed 12 weeks.
- During phase back, you'll work reduced hours over a set period, and you'll receive your full Value Account during this time. If one employee takes 5 months Maternity leave, the other employee takes 6 months shared parental leave, the combined total phase back between both partners is 12 weeks.
- There's no set programme of return as each request will be considered on an individual basis.
- Operational needs will also be taken into consideration when agreeing a phase back arrangement, however, line managers must make sure that all requests are treated with consistency.
- Phase back might involve a build-up of hours each day or the number of days in a week.
- Where you're phasing back to a part-time work pattern it's likely you'll do this sooner than someone phasing back to full-time.
- Any requests for phase back arrangements should be discussed as early as possible with your line manager, or during your return to work meeting (see below for more information on the meeting).
- During a phase back period, performance objectives will be based on actual working hours.
- For the purpose of assessing performance, you're classed as having returned to work as soon as your Shared Parental Leave ends.
- If you need to take holiday during your agreed phase back period, you only need to book off the days that you're expected to be working. For example, if you're phasing back and are currently only working Monday and Tuesday of a full week, but you want to take annual leave for that full week, you will only need to book off Monday and Tuesday.

4.3.4. Return to work meeting

A return to work meeting between you and your line manager should be held one month before you're due to return to work.

At the meeting the following should be discussed:

- The date you're proposing to return to work (including how you'll use any remaining holiday).
- Any phase back arrangements.
- Any other arrangements to make the return to work as smooth as possible.

- Any training, support, or development requirements to support your return to work.
- If you're making a flexible working request, you should discuss the proposed arrangements and how these fit with your team/business. Further information on the flexible working options available can be found in our Flexible Working Policy and Support Pack (Human Resources > Working here > Life balance > Flexible working).

4.3.5. What happens when you return to work?

- On your first day back in the office, your line manager will bring you up to date on anything that affects you.
- Depending on the discussion before your return, your line manager may have put a training programme in place. This training will be informal and will vary from job to job.
- The degree to which training is needed will also depend on the length of time you've been on leave.
- The day may also include meeting with other team members (especially where there are new joiners to the team), getting to know new products and updating you on the Group's/business/team performance whilst you've been on leave.

4.3.6. What if you can't return to work?

If for medical reasons, you're unable to return to work on the day you planned you must follow the normal sickness absence procedures as outlined in the Sickness Absence Policy and Support Pack (Human Resources > Absence > Sickness Absence).

4.3.7. What if childcare problems arise?

- If you encounter childcare problems when you return to work (e.g., your child or carer falls sick, or childcare arrangements fall through). If you have such problems, you may be entitled to Special Leave. The Holiday and Other Leave Policy and Support Pack provides further details on available leave.
- Alternatively, you may want to consider unpaid Parental Leave (depending on the length of leave required) and further information is available in our Parental Leave Policy (Human Resources > Absence > Parental Leave).

Information for line managers - The return-to-work process

Once the return-to-work discussion has been completed line managers must:

- Ensure the Shared Parental Leave absence is closed on Workday and return to work details are completed.
- Follow the flexible working application process where a request has been made. Further information on flexible working and the application process can be found in our Flexible Working Policy and Support Pack accessed through Human Resources > Working here > Life balance > Flexible working.
- Any job changes must be processed in Workday, taking effect the day Shared Parental Leave ends. Where a period of holiday is taken immediately after Shared Parental Leave, employees must be returned to work on Workday and then put on annual leave to ensure the correct payroll is applied.

There are several other things to consider and action when an employee returns to work, and these may include (remembering that some of these can take time to set up so ensure action is initiated in good time):

- Securing a desk, laptop and telephone if required.
- Re-activating e-mail accounts and systems access.
- Updates to car parking registrations.
- Arranging refresher training.
- Extending invites to team meetings and social events.

- Re-instating 121s.
- It's also useful for you to set some time aside on their first day back and ask other team members to update the employee on any news, active projects, and anything else significant that you haven't already covered as part of your keeping in contact.

4.3.8. What if the employee doesn't want to return to work?

If you decide not to return to work, you need to give the Group proper contractual notice by writing to your line manager. They will then return you to work on Workday and start the resignation process.

 Further information on the resignation process including the treatment of pay and benefits, can be accessed through Human Resources > Working here > Leaving the bank > Resigning.

5. Neonatal care and leave

You'll be supported with a period of additional leave if your baby must spend time in neonatal care.

5.1. To be eligible for NCL your baby must have

- Been born on or after the 06th April 2025.
- Been placed into neonatal care within 28 days of being born (counting from the day after your baby is born) and care must continue for a period of at least 7 consecutive days (beginning on the day after neonatal care starts).
- Medical care includes:
 - Medical care received in hospital, including treatment in a special care baby unit (SCBU), local neonatal unit (LNU) or neonatal intensive care unit (NICU).
 - Medical care received elsewhere following discharge from hospital. Such care must be under the direction of a consultant and includes ongoing monitoring and visits to the child by healthcare professionals.
 - Palliative or end of life care.
- Any medical care that doesn't fall within the definitions outlined above or that doesn't fall within the first 28 days of the baby's birth won't qualify for NCL.

Additionally, you must have primary caring responsibilities for the baby.

5.2. Length of neonatal leave

- The length of NCL will be dependent on how long your baby receives neonatal care but is capped at a maximum of 12 weeks.
- You can take one week of leave in respect of each week your baby receives neonatal care without interruption. The week begins on the day after care started.
- For parents with twins or other multiple births, NCL can't be claimed in respect of babies who are receiving care at the same time. For example, if both twins received care for 6 weeks, you're only able to take 6 weeks of leave.

5.3. When and how can leave be taken

- Any leave must be taken within 68 weeks of your baby's birth.

- NCL should be taken immediately after your planned family leave ends so that the time your baby has had to spend in neonatal care is compensated for. This will also support the Group operationally in providing cover during your time away, e.g. through a single secondment.
- If an employee isn't already on family leave whilst the baby is in neonatal care (e.g., paternity leave has run out while your baby is still in the hospital), legislation provides for flexibility and reduced notice requirements. As a result, there is a distinction between the time NCL is used. This is referred to as tier 1 or tier 2 periods.
- If NCL is taken whilst your baby is receiving care (and up to a week post discharge), this will be classed as a tier 1 period. Tier 1 leave can be taken in non-continuous blocks of a minimum of one week at a time. Tier 1 leave ends on the 7th day after the day your baby stops receiving neonatal care.
- All other NCL falls within the tier 2 period and must be taken in one continuous block. There is no option to take more than one period of NCL in the tier 2 period.

5.4. Giving notice

- In line with other family leave, you're expected to provide notice of your intention to take NCL and the required length of notice differs depending on when leave is taken.
- For tier 1 leave (leave taken when your baby is still receiving care), notice must be given before you are due to start work on your first day of absence in that week. Where this isn't reasonably practicable, you must give as much notice as soon as reasonably possible.
- For a single week of tier 2 leave, notice must be given no later than 15 days before the first day of NCL.
- For two or more consecutive weeks of tier 2 leave, notice must be given no later than 28 days before the first day of NCL leave.

5.5. Pay during NCL

You'll continue to receive your full Value Account during your NCL up to the NCL maximum of 12 weeks.

5.6. Requesting NCL

All requests for NCL must be logged on Workday.

5.7. Additional information about NCL

- In the very sad circumstances where a baby dies after NCL has accrued, you're still able to take the leave.
- If you're taking over 6 weeks of continuous NCL, you'll be given additional support should a redundancy situation arise. This is similar to the support given to colleagues who face a redundancy situation whilst on maternity leave, the details of which can be found in the redundancy policy and support pack. Further information can be found in Section 7.

6. Disruption to Shared Parental Leave

- If your child dies your entitlement to Shared Parental Leave that's already been booked is unaffected. You're also entitled to a minimum of 2 weeks paid bereavement to be taken within 56 weeks of the child's death.

- If the adoption of your child ends after being placed, your entitlement to Shared Parental Leave that's already been booked is unaffected.
- If your circumstances change and you no longer consider yourself to be sharing the main responsibility for the care of the child, you must inform your line manager as soon as possible.
- Your entitlement to Shared Parental Leave or shared parental pay may end and you may be expected to return to work within a timescale that is proportionate to the length of leave taken, and no later than eight weeks.

 Further support is also available on our Wellbeing Hub, specifically through our Moments that Matter guide (Human Resources > Wellbeing > Moments that matter - in the moment support > Losing a baby) and through our Employee Assistance Programme.

7. Restructures and Shared Parental Leave

7.1. Regulation 10 (Reg 10) protection

Under legislation, you'll be supported under Reg 10 rules and our internal supporting process. These apply when:

- You are currently on a period of Shared Parental leave.
- You have returned from a period of Shared Parental leave and have taken at least six weeks consecutive leave. The period of cover is 18 months from the date of birth of the child/the child's placement for adoption.

7.2. Consultation

- If you're on a period of Shared Parental Leave, you'll be included in the consultation process, and you'll be put at risk alongside your colleagues.
- You'll be given the option to participate in the redundancy consultations as normal. This could involve your line manager:
 - Offering to meet you outside normal business hours.
 - Visiting you at home.
 - Consulting with you in writing.
- If you refuse to take part in the consultation process as normal, this will be documented, and your job may be selected for redundancy even if you can't participate in the consultation process.
- You'll be treated the same as all other employees in relation to any invitation to apply for voluntary redundancy.

The remainder of the process to be followed varies, depending on whether the redundancy situation arises as a result of a restructuring or a headcount reduction.

 Further guidance on the redundancy process during Shared Parental Leave can be found at Human Resources > Working Here > Leaving the bank > Redundancy > Redundancy Policy and Support Pack.

Information for line managers

If your employee has been served notice and is due to return from their leave, email the team at ~ Transitions – GB Restructures to remove the pending Workday action. You should then follow the return from extended leave actions in Workday and confirm back to the Redundancy Team once complete.

7.3. Redundancy payments

- Payment of outstanding ShPP and OShPP, up to the end of the Shared Parental Leave period, will be made to eligible employees who leave the Group early due to Voluntary Redundancy (VR) or Compulsory Redundancy (CR).
- This will be paid in a lump sum in the month you leave the Group.
- Eligible employees will receive a payment which will include:
 - Group redundancy pay.
 - Any balance of outstanding ShPP and OShPP. Pension funding and where applicable benefit funding may continue to be paid up to your exit date depending on what stage of leave you're in.
 - Payment for any outstanding holidays. These will be paid based on base salary only (i.e. excluding any pension funding and if applicable benefit funding).
 - Notice pay is inclusive of Shared Parental Leave pay during the notice period and should not be paid in addition to shared Parental Leave pay.

Information for line managers

Where an employee has been served notice:

- You should ensure that they receive full pay during the notice period, by arranging a top up of Shared Parental Leave pay to full pay if required.
- Any additional notice top up pay will be paid as a lump sum at the end of the notice period.

8. Supporting working parents

We offer a number of policies and products which provide further support for working parents, and this support is outlined below.

8.1. Onsite nursery

There's an onsite nursery available at Gogarburn in Edinburgh. Further information can be found at Bright Horizons <https://www.brighthorizons.co.uk/our-nurseries/rbs-day-nursery-and-preschool>.

8.2. Childcare vouchers & Tax Free Childcare

- If you're already part of the childcare voucher scheme, you'll continue to receive these as part of your Value Account.
- If you're not part of the scheme you won't be able to join as the scheme is now closed to new entrants.
- The vouchers available through NatWest Benefits Elections are tax and National Insurance (NI) free up to a limit set by the Inland Revenue. As the Group also benefits from NI savings up to this amount, your NatWest Benefit Election charge will be discounted by 10% up to the monthly limit.
- The vouchers can be used to pay nursery or child-minder's fees and as they are a NatWest Benefit Election Anytime benefit, there's the flexibility to amend the monthly amount as required. However, changes to the monthly amount cannot be made during Shared Parental Leave.
- If you're not part of the childcare voucher scheme, you may be able to join the Government's Tax Free Childcare Scheme.

8.3. Wellbeing Hub

Our Wellbeing Hub (Human Resources > Wellbeing) provides a range of useful information including details of our Employee Assistance Programme which offers advice, information, and support on a wide range of issues, including childcare and parenting. It's a free and confidential service available to you and your immediate family members.

There's also useful information on the Hub in the Family and carers zone, including support through our HomeLife Employee Led Network.

8.4. Other supporting policies

We have a number of policies that offer additional leave to support childcare responsibilities once you've returned from Shared Parental Leave. These are listed in the related content section of this policy.
